

10. Match the following methods of examination with the jumbled definitions on the right.

- |                 |  |
|-----------------|--|
| 1. palpation    | a) questioning to learn the patient's complaints   |
| 2. auscultation | b) physical examination by pressure of the hand or fingers to the surface of the body especially to determine the condition (as of size or consistency) of an underlying part or organ |
| 3. percussion   | c) visual observation of the body in the course of a medical examination   |
| 4. inspection   | d) the act or technique of tapping the surface of a body part to learn the condition of the parts beneath by the resulting sound (as to distribution of gases, fluids, solids)         |
| 5. inquiry      | e) the act of listening to sounds arising within organs (as the lungs or heart)  |

11. Choose the right words to complete the sentences.

- Checking the blood pressure reveals ...
a) level of BP                      b) blood count                      c) murmur of the lungs
- Inquiry reveals ...
a) patient's appearance      b) past history                      c) symptoms
- X-ray examination reveals ...
a) blood pressure                      b) blood count                      c) bone lesions
- Inspection reveals ...
a) heart sounds                      b) past history                      c) appearance
- A blood analysis reveals ...
a) sedimentation rate                      b) body temperature                      c) onset of the disease
- Auscultation reveals ...
a) breath sounds                      b) swelling                      c) rigidity
- Feeling the pulse reveals ...
a) elevated temperature                      b) pulse rate                      c) blood count
- Palpation reveals ...
a) family history                      b) growths                      c) crepitations
- Blood count reveals ...
a) pulse rate                      b) lesions                      c) number of leukocytes
- Percussion reveals ...
a) murmur of the heart                      b) dullness of sounds                      c) swelling